Broken Heart Syndrome by Steve Huntley

Steve was caused to looking into this syndrome as a result of seeing his clients deal with it during the pandemic. The clinical term for Broken Heart Syndrome is Takotsubo, or stress-induced cardiomyopathy. It is currently being studied at three major medical centers:

1. Cedars-Sinai (310) 423-2027;

2. Johns Hopkins (443) 997-0270; and
3. The Cleveland Clinic (216) 444-5680

If an acquaintance or loved one is experiencing shortness of breath, chest pains, and a loss of a will to live, please refer them to the above medical centers.

Please see attached slides for more details.
